Why should I report hate crime?

The police want to reduce hate crime. You will help the Police build up a 'True Vision' of hate crime in your community and could help prevent this happening to someone else.

The Police can only take action against offenders if they know about hate crime

You have a right to be protected and no one has a right to commit a crime against you.

We want you to feel safe and listened to and can help protect you and others if you report crimes.

How do I report hate crime?

You can report hate crime as a victim, witness or on behalf of someone

No incident is too minor to report

The best way to report to the Police is to contact them directly but you can also report by using this self-reporting form or online at www.report-it.org.uk

What will happen when I report?

We will look at the information you provide and offer you advice and support

You can tell us what help you need and if you want us to involve others

The Police will take action to protect you and let you know what happens

Once completed, please return this form to your local police station.

You may also hand this leaflet to the following organisation:

What is a hate crime?

Any crime that the victim or any other person thinks is motivated by hostility linked to who they are or how they live their lives.

Hate crime can include damage, assault, abuse and harassment.

Police record all hate crime where you are targeted because of your race, religion, sexuality, disability or gender identity.

You can get more information about hate crime and links to support groups on the True Vision website.
